"Sustainability is essential to our long-term success and central to our strategy," said LP Chair and CEO Brad Southern. "Our commitment to sustainable operations is demonstrated through responsible forest management, the development of carbon-negative products, the safety and well-being of our team members, and our support for the communities where we live and work."

Key highlights from LP's 2024 Sustainability Report include:

- Safest Company Award: Received the Safest Company Award from APA–The Engineered Wood Association for the 11th time in 15 years.
- Environmental Product Declarations: Released eight environmental product declarations, showcasing carbon-negative products that represent 75% of our North American net sales for 2023.
- Greenhouse Gas Emissions: Decreased Scope 1 and Scope 2 greenhouse gas emissions intensity per dollar of net sales by 41% since 2019.
- Renewable Energy: Achieved 80% of energy use from renewable sources in 2023.
- Recognition: Named to Newsweek's list of America's Most Responsible Companies.
- Community Support: Donated nearly $1 million to causes important to local communities in which we operate.
- Inclusivity Training: Trained 100% of active North American team members in the company's customized inclusivity program.
- Mental Health Services: Offered free and unlimited mental health counseling services for all U.S. team members.
- Sustainable Sourcing: Sourced 100% of wood fiber in adherence with stringent forest certification standards, including the Sustainable Forestry Initiative® in North America and the Programme for the Endorsement of Forest Certification in South America.
